DEP considering license for Greenwood tire site

Draft license would allow for three times as many tires as are now stored at Irish Neighborhood site

Officials of the Maine Department of Environmental Protection say they expect to make a decision within 10 days on whether to recommend that a license be granted for the used tire storage/handling site operated by Peter Gordon in Greenwood.

Conversations with DEP officials last week appear to indicate that the department is leaning in favor of licensing the site—despite its history of chronic noncompliance with state environmental regulations.

If the site is licensed, Gordon will be able to legally expand the operation to at least three times its current size.

The site, which is located off the Rabbit Road in the Irish Neighborhood, is actually closer to the village of Bethel than it is to much of Greenwood. In the event of a fire, the Bethel Fire Department would be the first responder.

The site has been operating for more than a year without the required permits from either the DEP or the Town of Greenwood, which in October 1988 passed an ordinance regulating such sites.

Over the past year DEP staffers have made a number of inspection visits to the tire site. In each case they found violations, which they ordered Gordon to correct.

The primary violation involved the size of the tire pile on the site. State law does not require a license for piles with a "footprint" of 10,000 square feet or less, but the smaller piles are still required to meet certain state regulations.

On at least two visits, the DEP staffers said they found the tire pile on the site to be larger than 10,000 square feet. In June the DEP sent a notice of violation ordering Gordon to stop adding tires to the site and giving him 30 days to bring the pile down to legal size.

Hundreds applaud DARE graduates

By JANE ROLFE

A crowd of more than 400 people turned out last week for the first Project DARE graduation to be held in the SAD #44 area. Sixth graders from Andover, Bethel, Greenwood, Newry and Woodstock attending the festivities.

The ceremonies opened with Chief of Police Brian Stowell introducing the guest speakers. Welcome was given by Rodney Abbott, chemical health coordinator for Telstar High School. Abbott was followed by Oxford County Sheriff Lloyd Herrick. The main address was given by Lt. Wayne Gallant, youth affairs officer for the Rumford Police Department.

Lt. Gallant is in his third year as a DARE officer. He was the first Oxford County DARE officer and the first State of Maine District representative of the DARE Maine Officers Association.

Lt. Gallant came off the stage to be on the same level as the sixth-graders. He gave an enthusiastic speech, with shouting and cheering. DARE tells the children that they can make good decisions. That it's OK to say no. That we are cutting down the supply and demand of drugs by education. That this is a powerful program.

Before Lt. Gallant was through he had all the members of the audience stand except the sixth-graders—to show them the network of support out there for them.

In his remarks, Sheriff Herrick applauded the local community for its support of the DARE program.

Following opening remarks, essays were read by Jason Berry, Erica Carson, Kevin Bean, all sixth-graders of the Telstar Middle School and by Megan Meisner, sixth-grader at Andover Elementary School. The essays had been chosen by their classmates.

Skits were then performed by pupils from all the schools. The theme which came across in both essays and skits was that there are alternative ways to handle pressure, that drinking and driving kill, that drugs kill, and that it is OK to say no.

Awards were presented upon the completion of the skits. Each student was presented with a DARE certificate for completion of the program, a symbolic American Flag Pin with DARE written across it, and a bright multi-colored lime-green T-shirt with DARE written across the front.

Closing remarks were given by Superintendent of Schools Dewaine Craig, who spoke of the importance of this program as a useful tool throughout the rest of the children's lives.

A reception was held immediately following in the Telstar cafeteria, where parents provided refreshments and the Nazarene Church made four double layer cakes, each one with the spelling of DARE.

This first graduation was a success, and the support from the SAD #44 district, parents, students, principals, superintendents, law enforcement, DARE committee members and all contributors, shows the true nature of the program—and that "you can make a difference."

Bethel Furniture Stock lays off nine workers

Bethel Furniture Stock laid off nine employees last week because of declining sales.

The company had employed 70 people, but President Leon Favreau said poor sales in the panel department forced him to lay off six full-time and three part-time employees.

"We're experiencing very low sales of panels," said Favreau. "We just had to reduce costs."

The company has been trying to boost sales in its bending and panel departments, Favreau said, adding that he attended a sales convention in Mississippi last week and plans to attend another in North Carolina next month.

Favreau said he did not plan on any more layoffs soon, but he said he doubted the anyone would be rehired until the sales picture brightened.

Newry withdrawal hearing finds many parents opposed

By WENDY HANSCOM

Opponents outnumbered supporters at last week's public hearing on a possible Newry withdrawal from SAD #44.

About 80 people turned out for the meeting, and most of those present (many of them parents) argued the case against the proposed pullout.

Moderator Les Otten limited each speaker to two minutes. The meeting was divided into two major parts: the first to ask specific questions about the mechanics of the withdrawal plan, the second to discuss the more basic question of whether or not it made sense for the town to pull out of the school district.

The withdrawal plan calls for Newry to construct its own elementary school for grades K-8 and to tuition its secondary students to Rumford High School

Ethel Bisbee, 17 staff slots, FOCUS—all are on budget block

Proposed cuts include moving AES and WES sixth grades to Telstar

The SAD #44 administrative team last week proposed a package of budget cuts which includes closing the Ethel Bisbee School, moving Andover and Woodstock sixth-graders to Telstar Middle School, laying off 17 full-time district employees, and dropping the FOCUS program for gifted and talented elementary pupils.

The cuts were proposed in response to the SAD #44 board of directors' instruction that the administrators come up with a budget proposal for the coming year calling for no increases in local school taxes.

The no-new-taxes stipulation is only a guideline at this time; the school board has not yet committed itself to holding that line.

In addition to the possible tax cap, district budgeteers also have to contend with an anticipated decrease in state revenue coming into the district next year.

Last year the local school assessment paid by SAD #44 property owners rose by 24 percent. The total school budget for the year was $5,954,117. If property taxes are to remain at their current level for the coming year, the administrators estimate the next school budget cannot exceed $5,768,612.

At last week's joint meeting of the school board finance committee and the administrative team preparing the budget, the administrators contended that the proposed cuts were the best way of dealing with the budget restrictions.

"It's a tough year," said Superintendent

Bethel planners let bagelers and bins be

The Bethel Planning Board last week agreed to waive any site plan review for the bagel table serving skiers at the Great American Ski Shop on the Sunday River Road.

Bagel maker Barbara Fiore asked the board for an advisory opinion on selling the bagels, which she makes in her home. Fiore has arranged with ski shop owner Peter Gill to sell the bagels at the ski shop on weekends and during vacation periods.

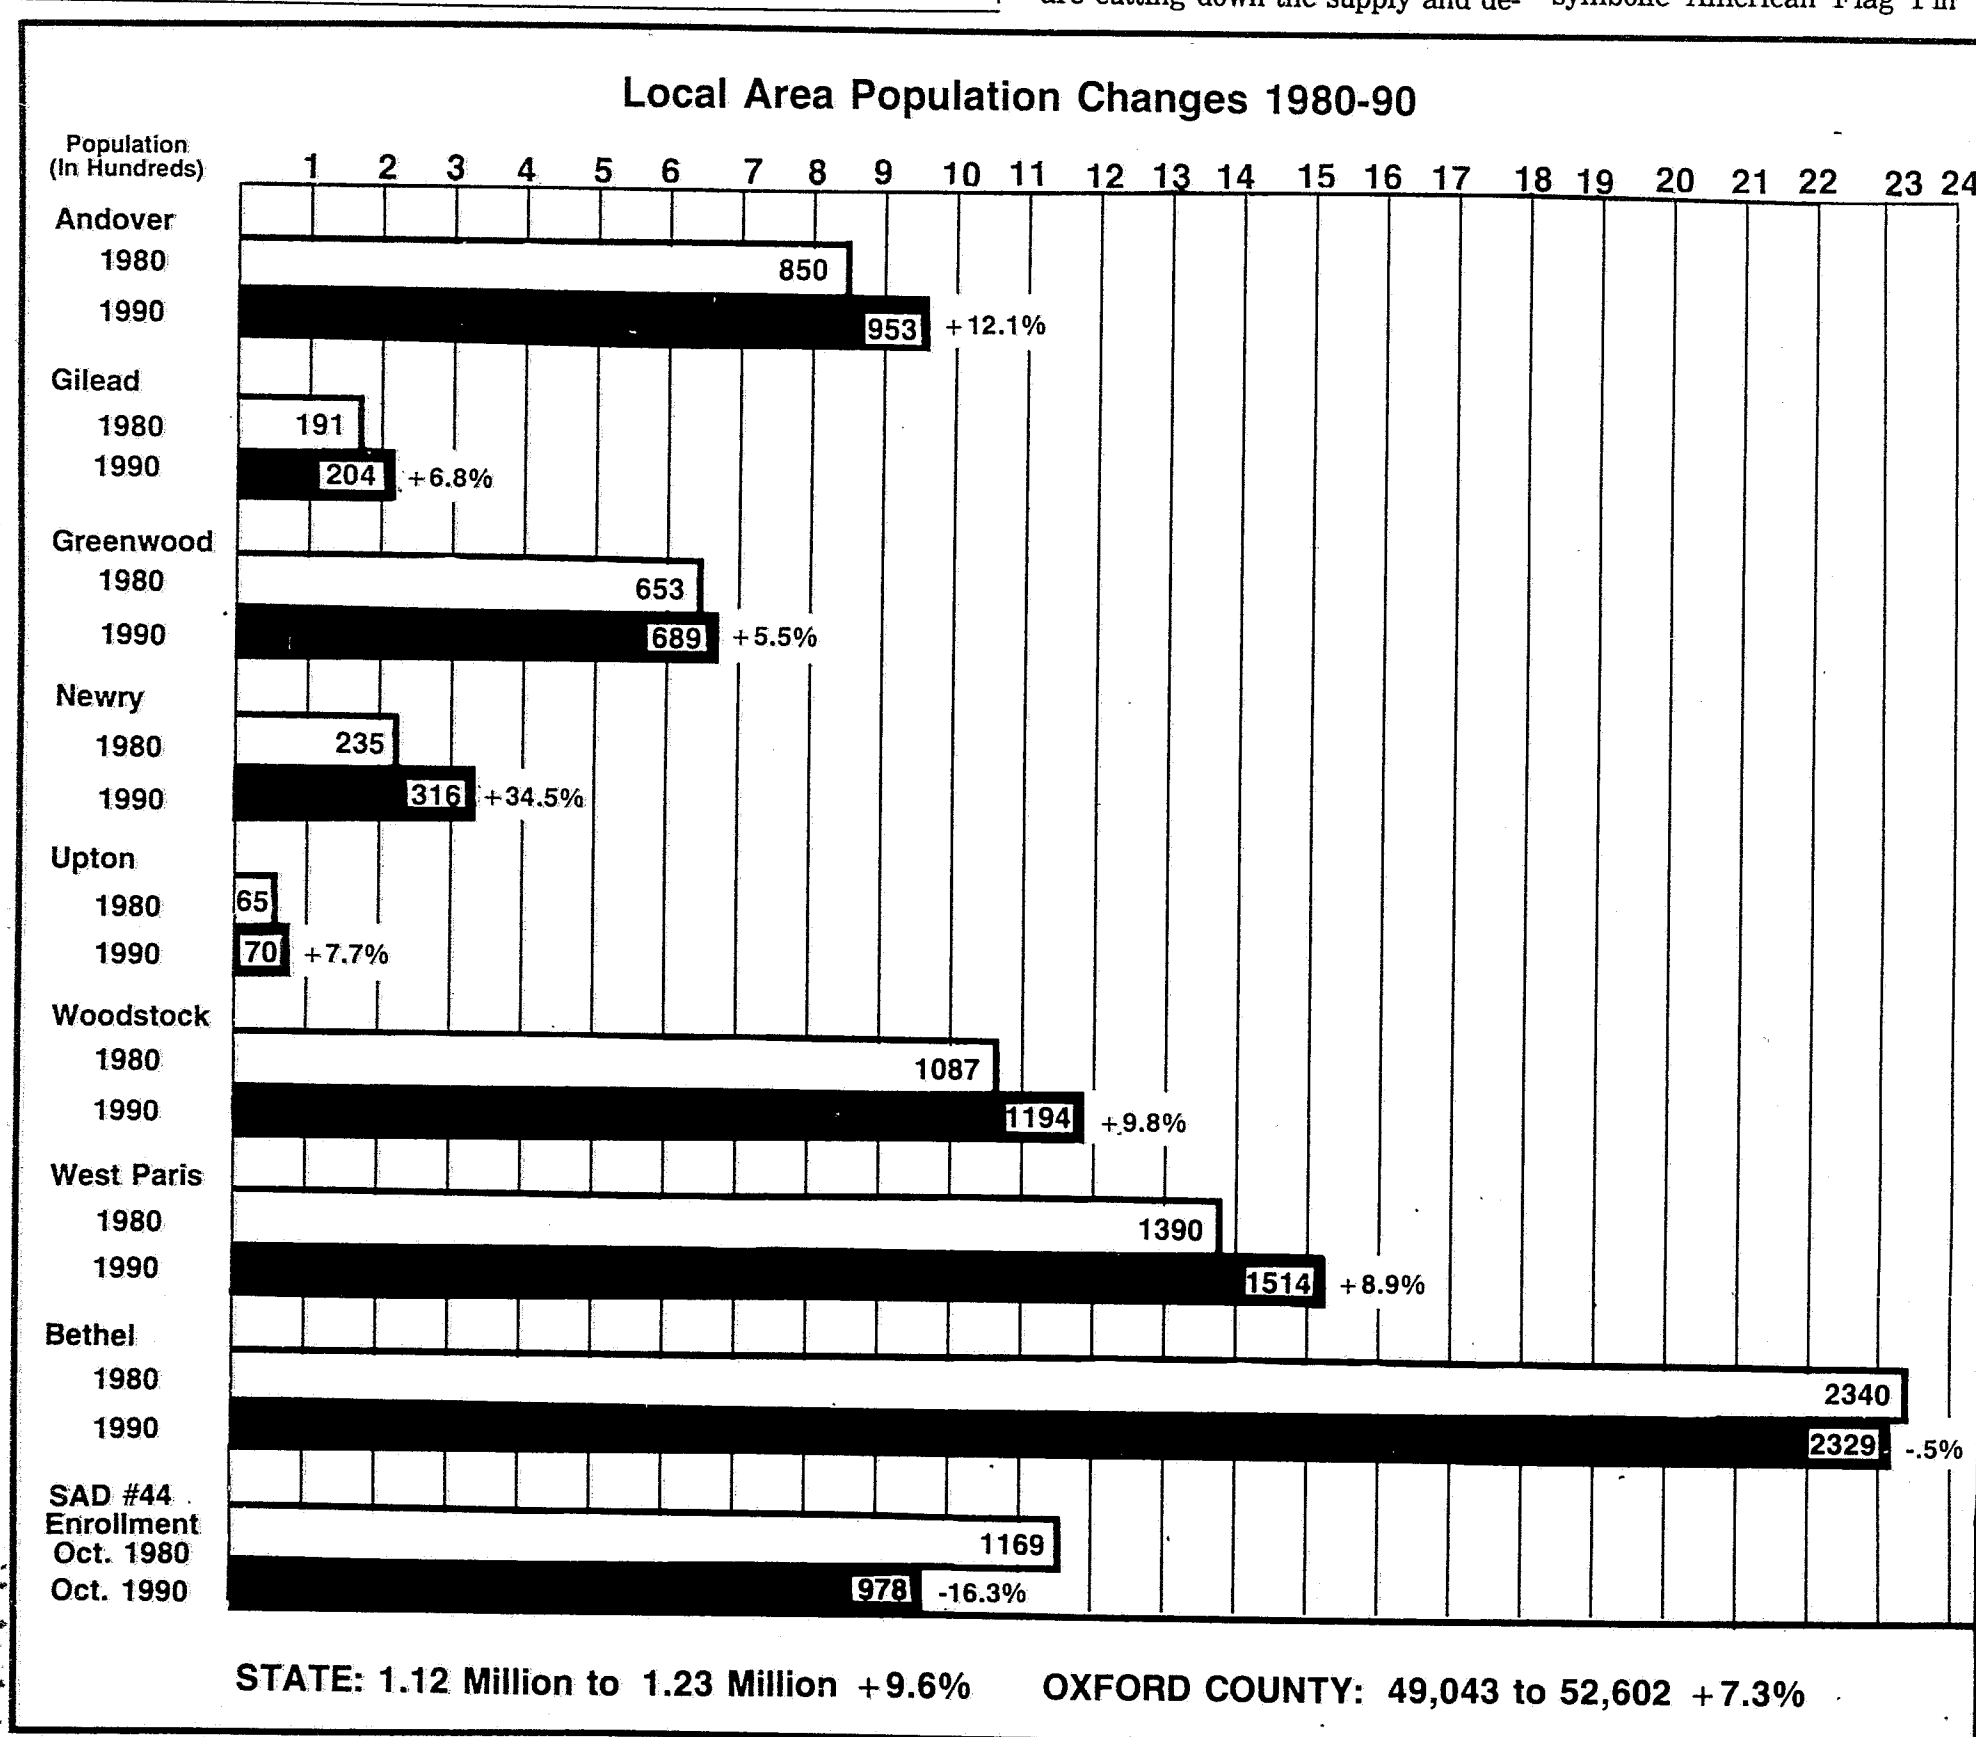

The board agreed that no site plan review was necessary, but the members suggested that the town adopt a vendor's license to cover such situations.

The board also agreed to waive a site plan review in order to allow recycling containers to be placed at the new recycling center behind the ambulance garage.

Board Assistant Stacy Benjamin made the request. She said seven mobile, temporary containers would be put in place for sorting reusable waste products.

The board also discussed a new

CENSUS RESULTS—During the decade from 1980 to 1990 the population of SAD #44 area towns (including Gilead and Upton) grew from 6611 to 7269, or 6.7 percent, according to preliminary census figures recently released by the U.S. Census Bureau. The fastest growing local town was Newry, which now has one-third more people (316) than it did in 1980. The population of most other area towns grew between 5 and 12 percent during the same period, but 1990 saw Bethel with .5 percent fewer people (2329) than it had at the beginning of the decade, according to the census figures. Nearby West Paris grew by 8.9 percent during the period. But, while the overall population of the area was growing, student enrollment in SAD #44 was declining by 16.3 percent, to 978 pupils. According to the state Department of Education, the dropoff is consistent with a statewide pattern—caused in large part by the children of the first wave of baby boomers passing through the school system. The state's population for the 1980-1990 period grew by 9.6 percent—from 1.12 to 1.23 million. The population of Oxford County grew from 49,043 to 52,602, or 7.3 percent. The census bureau said that additional demographic and economic data generated by the 1990 census are now being compiled and will be released at a later date.

A license now would only make the tire problem worse

For more than a year Peter Gordon has been operating a used tire storage/handling facility off the Rabbit Road in the Irish Neighborhood—without the benefit of the required licenses from the state Department of Environmental Protection or the Town of Greenwood. And, according to DEP staffers who have inspected the site, it has been operating in chronic violation of various environmental regulations.

The DEP has repeatedly ordered Gordon to bring the site into compliance with basic state regulations intended to protect the public—above all, from the potentially disastrous consequences that would be reeked upon the area if the tens of thousands of tires piled at the site were to catch fire.

The DEP's efforts have so far met with no discernible success, but now the state's environmental watchdogs have apparently come up with a way out of the stalemate—make the site legal by granting it a license, a license that would allow Gordon to bring in three times as many tires as are already stored there.

No final decision on the license has yet been reached, but in conversations with The Citizen, DEP staffers (including the director of the Bureau of Licensing and Enforcement) clearly appeared to lean toward granting a draft license for the site.

Licensing the facility, they argue, would increase DEP's ability to control what goes on there. But when pressed for reasons why this would be the case, they were unable to come up with any convincing specifics.

Their rationale in fact seems to reflect far more wishful thinking than it does sound environmental policymaking. Hoping to avoid a protracted legal battle, and counting on Gordon to make good on his promise to consolidate his numerous illegal tire dumps at the Greenwood site once it is granted a license, the DEP is basically crossing its fingers and gambling that a license will magically transform the whole character of operations at the site.

But in all likelihood, granting a license now will only increase the scale of the potential problems at the site—problems the DEP has shown it lacks the resources or the will to control.

A used tire storage facility—essentially an enormous pile of old tires, with trailer trucks coming and going, loading and unloading—will never be a popular neighbor. But Peter Gordon, or anyone else, certainly has the right to operate one, provided they do so within the law. In fact, one must admire Gordon's perseverance and entrepreneurship in the face of adversity, especially during a period when the regulatory rules of the game have constantly been changed on him.

But residents of the area also have a right—to be protected from an out-of-control environmental time bomb.

Such protection is what the DEP staff is paid, and mandated by state law, to provide.

Now, before the license is granted, is the time to get on the phone to our elected representatives in Augusta and let them know that we expect them to see that DEP lives up to that responsibility. No license should even be considered until all the questions about the operation are answered, and until there is much better reason to believe it will be managed in compliance with the law. —MRD

Budget cuts

dent Dewaine Craig. "I told administrators to put in the budget just what they needed to open the doors. When you turn $648,000 [which had to be cut from the administrators' first budget draft] into people, this process becomes very difficult. This is going to hurt—no ifs, ands, or buts about it. Everybody is losing something and everybody is hurting."

Speculating on the ultimate outcome of the budget procedure, he said, "This may be the way it ends up but my guess is it won't be."

Finance Committee Chairman Merton Brown said that he hoped this year's cost-cutting measures will just be temporary.

"I do sincerely believe that this is a temporary measure and not something we need to do every year, year after year after year," Brown said.

The administrators proposed that the $648,031 in cuts could be met in part by eliminating seventeen full-time positions: ten teachers, one administrator, two clerk/receptionist, two secretaries, and two custodians.

They also called for the closing of the Ethel Bisbee School. The two portable classrooms at Ethel Bisbee would be moved to the Crescent Park site, along with one portable classroom from the Woodstock Elementary School. Craig said that Schiavi Leasing would move the buildings and install five new kerosene heating units at no cost to the district.

The budgeteers also proposed moving WES and AES sixth graders to Telstar Middle School, as well as eliminating the elementary FOCUS program.

Additional deletions included the Telstar Alternative Education request, the Telstar Outward Bound request, and contracted guidance counselors.

After Craig's presentation last week, Finance Committee Chairman Brown asked the district administrators for their opinion on the cuts.

The administrators said they had worked together as a team to come up with the proposed cuts and as individuals each had tried not to be biased in favor of his or her own school or pet programs.

"We took a deep, hard look at kids and where we needed the most help for kids," said WES Principal Frank Boynton. "When we looked at buildings we weren't selfish for the building. We were selfish for the kids."

Telstar Principal Ted Davis said, "We looked at what our own building could do and also across the district, and as you can see, each one of us took it on the chin."

EBIS Principal Wendy Ford added, "The team looked carefully at the commitment to early childhood education. Our thought was always, 'What can we do that will be best for the children.'"

Davis summed up their feelings by saying, "We support this proposal, but we're not happy about it."

Additional open budget sessions are scheduled for Feb. 27, March 6 and March 7, in the Telstar Library at 7:00 p.m. each evening. The school board will vote on the final budget March 11. The annual district budget meeting is scheduled for April 25.

"LUCK AND A LOT OF WATER" were credited by Bethel Fire Chief Jim Young with making it possible for firefighters to contain last week's fire at the Dunn apartment building on Main Street. (Other observers at the scene said the firefighters' professionalism and training also played pretty important roles.) The Mechanic Street apartment building (left) belonging to Tony Chapman was spared, even though one corner is only inches from the burned building. At their regular meeting this week, the Bethel Board of Selectmen was told to expect some pretty hefty bills for the estimated 600 manhours firefighters from Bethel, Greenwood, Newry, Gilead and Norway spent battling the blaze. In this week's Moses Mason House column, Dr. Stanley Howe sketches the long history of the burned building.

Letters to the editor

A TIP OF THE HAT TO AN OUTSTANDING TEAM

(Note: John Todd and family, of Lower Main Street, have asked that the following letter of Feb. 12 to Bethel Fire Chief Jim Young be published in The Citizen.)

Dear Jim:

I am compelled to write this letter after witnessing the devastating fire on Lower Main Street last night. It was of more than passing interest to me in that a sudden wind shift could have spelled disaster for Debbie Mills' home and others, and perhaps my own.

This community owes a debt of gratitude to the terrific group of men and women who comprise our Fire Department. Even to the novice eye, it was apparent that the training you conduct so diligently throughout the year paid off. Equally obvious was the value of good fire fighting gear. Well trained people and good equipment are absolutely essential, and your team illustrated that effective combination last night.

The containment of damage to the home and only that home was an incredible piece of good work, and I am grateful for your effort in my behalf. It was an object lesson for all who watched your team perform that tax dollars expended for the best fire fighting equipment we can afford is not only well spent, but absolutely essential.

A big "tip of the hat" to you, Assistant Chief David Brown, and an outstanding team of professionals.

Gratefully,
John Todd and Family
Lower Main Street

FROM THE Bethel Town Office

On behalf of the Town of Bethel I'd like to thank the many wonderful people who fought the fire last Monday night and Tuesday. The firefighters themselves showed unsurpassed dedication, and we must remember never to take your effort for granted. Those of you who initiated support efforts for the firefighters have earned the respect and admiration of all of us. This has truly been a lesson in small town community living and giving.

It is my pleasure to extend a hearty congratulations to the graduates of the DARE program. I hope you enjoyed your graduation exercise as much as those of us in the audience did. You should know that we are very, very proud of you all.

Dog owners: Please do not forget that dog licenses were due January first. Unlicensed dogs after April 1, 1991 will incur fines.

I am abdicating the remainder of my column this week to Linda Saunders for a status report on 50/50 Loan Grant Program for Cellar Drain Connections.

For those of you in the targeted area, i.e. Mason Street, Spring Street, Main Street, High Street, and the upper portion of Elm Street, this is the time of year everyone is gathering their paperwork for tax returns. While you still have this information together, it is a good time to get your application filled out for the loan/grant program. There are several property owners in the targeted area I am anxious to hear from. If you have questions regarding the application, don't be shy—I will be glad to give you a hand with it.

The local banks have expressed interest in processing the loans granted by the program and the list of pre-certified plumbers and contractors is growing. I think we will be ready to start the work orders and bids in the near future, but we can't help you if you don't get your application.

SUPPORTING TOURISM PAYS

(Note: The following letter from Robin Zinchuk, executive director of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, was recently sent to Senator Charles Pray, majority leader in the Maine State Senate.)

Dear Senator Pray:

This letter is in regards to the question I asked you during the panel discussion at Chamber Day and, primarily, your answer to that question.

I asked you what role you thought state government should be playing to ensure tourism, our state's second largest industry, stays healthy and competitive in the world market. Your answer was preceded with this comment: "My constituents tell me that they'd pay higher taxes just to see those flatlanders go away and stop fishing their fish and shooting their deer." You went on to talk about priorities of state spending, placing tourism promotion low on the list.

Senator Pray, as one of the leaders in state government, I am surprised at your apparent lack of knowledge about the value of tourism as an industry. No matter what your constituents in North Central Maine think about flatlanders, they come to our "Vacationland" and leave millions of dollars here each year. These dollars provide jobs for thousands of Mainers and ensure tourism, our state's second largest industry, stays healthy and competitive in the world market. The taxes imposed upon these tourists as well as the businesses brought $85 million in state tax revenues and $16.8 million in local tax revenues in 1987 alone. Other statistics include the following facts:

In 1987, the lodging, food, transportation, retail and recreation firms that comprise the Maine tourism industry directly supported 38,000 full-time equivalent jobs, more than any other sector of the state economy.

In the same year, the state's tourism industry distributed an annual payroll of $518 million.

Also in the same year, travelers spent $1.6 billion.

In my seven years of Chamber of Commerce work, I have been contacted by hundreds of people wanting to move in to the state to open small businesses. Many of the successful business openings have been by out of state folks who love Maine and want to enjoy life here. Should we have the attitude, "I was here first now let's burn the bridge at Kittery"? I think not. Most of these newcomers have become great community members as well as active school, church and civic volunteers.

In a quickly changing world economy and a tough regional economy where banks are closing and manufacturing as we once knew it is suffering we can not afford to squelch or hinder any industry. It is recognized that there are both positive and negative effects of each industry but our challenge as state, regional and local leaders is to educate the public, based on truth and facts, not emotion and short sightedness, about the value of tourism to Maine.

Business and industry is what makes our economy thrive. One would hope that those who are elected to positions in government would say and do all they could to ensure that all those who have ambition to open businesses here in Maine can continue to do so. This will create jobs and income for the residents of our state which is sorely needed. For every dollar that Maine now spends on tourism development, the state receives at least $50 in direct tax revenues. I don't think we want this valued industry to go away.

Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

Tire licensing

correct other alleged violations, including erosion problems, lack of adequate buffer strips for fire protection, and the lack of a containment system for oil and other fluids from junked cars being dismantled on the site.

In October, Brent McCarthy, of the DEP Bureau of Solid Waste Management/Division of Licensing and Enforcement, said that following the June inspection Gordon had made some initial efforts to bring the site into compliance, but by October it was once again in serious violation.

During the course of the June visit, McCarthy had promised to help Gordon through the licensing process—if Gordon showed a willingness to abide by the state regulations.

"There's a need for this kind of operation," he told Gordon at the time, "but you have to go by the rules."

By year's end, however, McCarthy was characterizing the situation at the site as "intolerable . . . way out of hand, way out of control." At that point, he said, the DEP was "real close" to going to the state Attorney General's office to attempt to have the site closed down.

But as of last week, the DEP's position appears to have shifted significantly.

Following an hour-long staff meeting on the situation, a meeting which involved "a lot of strategizing," according to McCarthy's boss, Michael Barden, director of the Division of Licensing and Enforcement, the agency appeared to be leaning toward licensing the site—in the hope that by licensing it the department would somehow be able to gain greater control over it.

The DEP is also concerned with cleaning up "four or five illegal sites" (tire dumps) operated by Gordon in Woodstock, Bethel and Albany

Township, Barden said, and Gordon has promised to move the tires from those sites to the Greenwood site once it is licensed. More than 50,000 tires are piled at the Albany site alone.

As far as legal action is concerned, Barden said, it was still a possibility, but it had proved to be totally ineffective in the past—for example, in controlling illegal tire dumps in Durham and Bowdoinham. A court challenge "could drag out for years," he said, without doing anything to improve the situation.

Barden also said that there were now strong markets for discarded tires, primarily for their use as fuel. The Champion paper mill in Bucksport, he said, could burn all the tires generated in Maine (estimated at more than 1 million a year).

But, Barden acknowledged, the tires at the Greenwood site are not just coming from Maine. He said Gordon had been buying tires on the spot market elsewhere in New England and taking them to the site.

It's a situation the DEP cannot do much to control, Barden claimed. "We can't keep people at the Kittery Bridge."

Greenwood Selectman Marie Bartlett said she had also been told by a DEP staffer that Gordon was even hauling in tires from Canada.

Bartlett said Greenwood town officials have been waiting to see what action the DEP took on the site before they considered enforcement action of their own.

She acknowledged that past attempts to enforce the town's ordinance have been ineffective in controlling what goes on at the site.

(The Gordon's did not return calls regarding this story.)

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

The 17th annual Heritage Day of the Bethel Historical Society will be held on Friday, Feb. 22 at the Dr. Moses Mason House, from 1 to 4 p.m.

Featured during the afternoon will be a wide variety of craft demonstrations and exhibits, ranging from basketmakers to quilters. Special tours of the Dr. Moses Mason Museum will be provided with a special treat included in the tour—hot Indian pudding served from the hearth of the winter kitchen.

A local book fair will be held, the work of local artists will adorn the walls of the meeting room, and a number of historical videos will be shown. Everyone is welcome.

The Dunn apartment building that burned last week is believed to have been built by Joseph Twitchell (1782-1871), the first white child born in what is today Bethel. The date of its construction is somewhat unclear, but the building does appear on the 1858 wall map of Bethel. It is also clear that Col. Clark S. Edwards (1824-1903) operated a store on this site prior to his distinguished service in the Civil War. The property was later owned by Sheriff Cyrus Wormell, a Civil War veteran, who sold it to Rev. Benjamin Foster, a Methodist clergyman, who came to town from Newry. From him the property was acquired by Eli Stearns, who operated a slaughter house which once stood between Alder River and the sub station just before the railroad tracks. Stearns operated a boarding house at his Main Street residence. From his heirs the property was purchased by Harvey Bragdon who enlarged the property and created the apartments. He operated several movie theaters in Maine, including the one in Bethel, which once entertained countless audiences in Odeon Hall. After his death, the premises were acquired by Butler Dunn, whose son owns it today.

Among the renters of this property at various times are included the following: Ben Scott, Elise Inman, Geraldine Knight, Henry and Grace Westlake, Daisy Philbrook, Ruth Doron, Gardiner and Helen Smith, Everett and Doris Chase, Adney and Agnes Gurney, Harvey Bragdon, Durward Mason, Lyman and Eva Lane, Roland and Louise Annis, William and Beverly Robertson, Rodney Lynch, Rose Strickland, Don and Violet Chretien, Norman and Mildred Westcott, Lloyd and Arlene Lowell, Roscoe and Bernice Swain.

Agnes Gray School

By MARTA CLEMENTS

First of all, thanks to our room mothers for planning and helping with our Valentine parties, and coping with the uncertainty of the weather and no school. All classes have been looking forward to exchanging their Valentines and enjoying their treats. Sometimes we do have to reschedule, but we do manage.

The kindergarten classes made their own valentine cards. Mrs. Howes drew lots of hearts on the board and printed valentine words on them for the children to copy. The children also made valentine people and decorated their valentine bags.

Wednesday was day 100 of the school year and lots of hundreds collections were brought in. Each student also made a necklace with 100 pieces to it. The letter of the week is R. They made the letter R with their bodies and with clay.

In addition to cards and decorations, the first-graders made valentine crowns. Mrs. Sheard and Mrs. Emery helped to make their party a success. In math they are learning about quantities up to six with a new game called "Crocodile Math". Props used are crocodile crackers. Sounds good. New sounds in reading are being learned with the sore throat card to learn the short o sound, and the flat tire card to teach that s spells ce, ci and cy.

They are reading information about George Washington and Abraham Lincoln to learn about President's Day celebrations. They are making silhouettes of Mr. Washington.

In second grade, Cameron Hall is the student of the week. Cameron is working with the rest of his classmates to create an activity booklet about Abraham Lincoln, or another famous person. Last week they wrote their autobiography. Now they are learning to write about another person, a biography.

Their reading book contains stories about people too. They especially like the story of Bill Cosby. Mrs. Perham is reading a Bobsey Twin story to the class. This is a fictional story about a family that brings back fond memories to many of us. In math the class is learning about grouping items together, a prerequisite to multiplication.

The third-graders are writing descriptive paragraphs. They have been writing a lot of stories together with Mr. Burke recording on large chart paper. Mistakes have been made on these charts and the class has worked together to find the errors. They have done lots of this activity together to help them learn how to begin editing their own paragraphs.

In health they are learning about the food groups which now total five. Carbohydrates and starches, junk food, have been added to the basic four. They are making collages and working together to come up with foods that belong in each group. They continue to learn about caring for their teeth. They are learning the proper technique of brushing to prevent tooth decay. They all have new tooth brushes and they are participating in the flouride program.

PERSONAL SAFETY—Crescent Park School teacher Brenda Wight, holding picture, is teaching a personal safety course this year to her third grade students. The basic strategy of the curriculum is to provide the information and self protection skills that will reduce children's vulnerability to abuse. Wight piloted the course last year, and SAD #44 will offer a workshop for other teachers interested in teaching the course in their classrooms. The workshop, which is open to the public, will be held Monday, Feb. 25 in the Telstar High School Library from 2:45 p.m. to 6 p.m.

The fourth-graders are continuing with the science unit on air and have been performing experiments to illustrate the fact that warm air rises and cold air settles to the ground. The children have been presenting their oral book reports and Mr. Litchfield said that Vernon Inman gave an excellent report on the "Hoboken Chicken Emergency".

My fifth-graders received a warm reply from J. Mobley, the captain of the USS Saratoga. We had written to the crew before and after the capsizing of the ferry and the drowning of so many crew members returning from shore leave. He expressed his appreciation and we were pleased to know that our letters had been noticed.

This week we wrapped up our science unit on magnets, with the unit test. We began long letters to our pen pals in the fifth grade at Norway. We are focusing on developing paragraphs and sticking to the main topic in that paragraph. We are continuing with our study of dictionary skills. Amanda Herrick has a broken finger on her right, writing hand. She is doing a marvelous job and keeping up with her work, using her left hand.

The sixth-graders are participating in the "Great Mail Race." Letters are being sent to schools all over the country and the class is waiting to see how many replies, from how many states are returned. They are also learning to write with a particular time in mind. This week the subject was nature. Their instructions were to write about something positive, something pleasant in nature. In English class they are learning about subject-verb agreement. They are noticing this in their writing and are finding this in their reel themselves. Their second book report of the quarter was due the Friday before vacation.

We hope the vacation week will cure all the bugs and colds currently going around.

Bethel Historical Society sponsors 14th annual school essay contest

Dr. Stanley R. Howe, director of the Bethel Historical Society announced this week that the society will once again sponsor the Dr. Moses Mason Award essay contest.

Named for Dr. Moses Mason, who was born over two hundred years ago and whose notes on local history are now preserved in the society's archives, the award is made annually to the Gould Academy or Telstar Regional High School student, who, in the opinion of the judges, writes the best essay on local history.

The award, consisting of a $100 savings bond and a certificate of commendation suitable for framing, is presented at the respective school's annual awards ceremony. It was established in 1978 by the society's board of Trustees to promote student research in local history.

In order to qualify, the student must be in grades 9-12 at either Gould or Telstar and submit an original essay of at least 500 but not more than 3,000 words based on primary sources (contemporary newspapers, diaries, letters, oral recollections, etc.) discussing a local history subject (confined to Oxford County).

Papers in the past have dealt with a diversity of subjects, ranging from floods, logging, coffin making, John Alfred Poor and the Bethel Fire Department. Students interested in learning more about the contest are asked to contact school authorities and/or call the society office at 824-2908. The deadline for all submissions is Wednesday, May 1, 1991.

Students wishing to do research are urged to use the collections of the Bethel Historical Society, which are especially rich in materials relating to western Maine. The Society is open throughout the year (8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday thru Friday).

This contest is part of the varied educational programs offered by the Bethel Historical Society, which for 25 years has been dedicated to preserving and interpreting the local past for present and future generations. Other educational programs include local history school activities for elementary and secondary students, student internships, history and craft courses for adults, Elderhostel sessions, and workshops and conferences for specialists in local and regional history.

Woodstock School

A message from the principal

I was pleased and proud of the students who participated in the DARE Graduation on Thursday night. The students behaved very well. The skits showed an informed understanding of the DARE Program. The students were enthusiastic about taking part in this program, and certainly demonstrated real life meaning in their performance.

Mrs. Shimamura and the basketball team deserve warm congratulations for a fine season. The students performed brilliantly in their efforts, and certainly need to be proud of their sportsmanship, skill development, and successes. Congratulations!

The Maine Assessment Testing has been completed in the fourth grade. I was pleased with the energy they put into this task. Their dedication was appreciated. Have a lovely vacation. I hope the weather cooperates.

West Paris

By MIRIAM INMAN

Alice Littlehale, who is a resident at Ledgeview Nursing Home, celebrated her 99th birthday on Feb. 1. She had many friends stop in to wish her a happy one. It is quite an accomplishment to reach 99! May she reach at least 100.

There was a Lamb reunion last week in Plant City, Fla. when all six brothers and sisters were together. Those in attendance were: Stanton and Jennie Lamb of Philadelphia, Pa.; Newton and Joyce Lamb, West Paris; Hayward and Mary Lamb of Charleston, S.C.; Jeanne (Lamb) Blossom of North Brantford, Conn. and the host and hostess Sayward and Cynthia Lamb. While there, they enjoyed a trip to Kennedy Space Center, Sea World, and Cypress Gardens. On a trip to St. Petersburg they attended the Greyhound dog races. After this wonderful 10 day vacation, all except the host and hostess, headed North with their tans, peeling noses and bags of citrus!

Dick and Carolyn Snow of Bath were Sunday visitors of her cousin, Sally and Gordon Doughty.

Here it is Thursday, Feb. 14, and another lousy, snowy day. Happy Valentines day to all.

Saturday John Salome in Saudi Arabia called his Aunt Sandy and Uncle Mike Spencer. The family was so thrilled they could talk for fifteen minutes. Auntie Sandra writes to him every week plus making big batches of cookies for John and enough to share with others.

Monday, Feb. 11, Priscilla Brett called and said she saw her first robin on the way to work. It must be slim pickings for the birds.

Saturday, Feb. 9, a very good crowd at the Agnes Gray Gym at West Paris dance.

Saturday, March 2, a dance at West Paris Grange Hall. Music by Richard Felt's Band.

Tuesday, March 5 the West Paris Senior Citizens will meet at the Baptist church parking lot and fill cars to go to the Country Way Restaurant for dinner. You can call Avis Ellingwood 674-2681 or Doris Lawrence 674-2376. I'll try and contact a lot of the members to be sure.

Tuesday, Feb. 12, I went to Jeanne Millett's and got Jason Thayer, then

BACK IN SERVICE—Your Cab Inc., under new management, is back in business. Wayne Parker and Angela Robson will be running the cab service. Parker said that public demand was the main reason he reopened the business.

We visited Richard and Barbara Felt, then we attended a 6th birthday party for Joshua Spencer, spaghetti and cake and ice cream. Others attending were Jason and Derrick Emery, Don and Amy, Chris and Michelle, Sandy and Mike Spencer. Everyone had a balloon with their name on it. We all had a good time.

Wednesday, Feb. 13, Mary Smith and I went to Chef's Table for lunch, then visited Ellen Coffin, then Gertrude Birney at Market Square Nursing Home.

Wednesday, Feb. 13, Chris and Michelle Spencer went to Tyngsboro, Mass. to visit Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reidy, their grandparents.

My callers have been Roberta Wesley and Jan, Jason Thayer, Howard Anderson, Joe Vatcher.

Judith Grover tent #17DUV met for a regular meeting at the grange hall on Monday, February 11, with 19 members present. JoAnne Cary, Guard and Council Member Denise Swan and Assistant Guard-Elena Noyes were installed by Leatrice Chase. Voted to give Andrea Hoyt a Sunshine box. Voted to have a Silent Auction next meeting for the Pat. Ins. to use for Memorial. Six members were reported on. Cards were sent. Readings on Lincoln and Washington by Leatrice Chase. 52 calls were made. The idea of a Rummage Sale and Food Sale plus tables for rent some time in May was to be thought about. Next meeting is March 11 with Denise Swan & Alice Hoyt on refreshments. After the meeting refreshments were served and Valentines exchanged. We ordered American Flag pins to sell.

The Woodstock Historical Society met on Saturday, February 9. The program was on the History of the Daughters of the Union Veterans of the Civil War. The organization started in 1885 with 5 girls in Ohio. Judith Grover tent #17 started in March 1924 with 16 charter members. One of the items on the refreshment table was lumberjack cookies, these could be baked, fried in a pan or deep fried, according to the recipe. Olive Risko had copies had copies for any who wanted it. Valentines were exchanged. Several Old Valentines were shown. Larry gave the curators report. He gave a new guest book. Ruby Emery has been working hard to keep her history book up to date. The Historical Museum has a very good book on Modern Art, if anyone wants to research the subject. Many people do not care for abstract art, but we can all benefit from new experiences on occasion. Mozart died almost exactly 200 years ago. This year many performances of his works will be presented on Public Radio and T.V. try to take the opportunity to listen to his music.

I thankfully basked in bliss for some time, lost for much of the time in gauzy thoughts and idle daydreams, looking backward at memorable times and forward into the unknowable ones. Dreams end, so did mine, as I rose to trace my way home down the path on which I had come.

A flock of geese was recently seen flying north. Maybe they needed a compass. They found no water here in which to swim.

I had problems with my typewriter last week but my neighbor came to my rescue. "This really is a neighborhood of those who truly care/A neighborhood where each and all their joys and sorrows share." Thanks neighbor.

Valentine's Day brought messages from several and a beautiful bouquet of flowers from a niece in South Paris. Several people have been in to visit this week.

Rain and wind or snow and rain, like a southern hurricane. That is what is promised for us tonight and tomorrow. Well, today was beautiful so I went out to enjoy it. "So rain and clouds, or sun and dew I said, Good morning day, to you!"

There was crust enough to hold me for a hike to Fox Hill. It is a place that I often visit, merely to look, listen, meditate and dream for a spell. Seated on a log, I relished the silence, broken only by the hairy woodpecker rapping on a tree. Chickadees sang their two-note phoebe song. Sun filtered through the trees to touch branches and boles with warm splashes against the cold shade.

Overhead two ravens drifted across the patch of sky that served as a ceiling for this sanctuary of mine. They moved on, down to the pond, no doubt looking for something the fishermen had left.

A pair of red squirrels barked and chattered at my intrusion. The bluejay that shattered the quietness with his alarm-call, when I first came, went about his business, as though I now belonged there, the same as the squirrels.

I thought of my surroundings in con-

Bedwetting: Causes and Cures

According to a recent study, 14 percent of children between the ages of 5 and 13 wet the bed. Nighttime bedwetting can result from many different causes. Heredity seems to be a big factor. It has been reported that in 44 percent of families with a child that wets the bed, one of the child's parents also was a bedwetter. The incidence is higher if both parents were bedwetters.

Organic causes of bedwetting include structural defects in the urinary tract at birth, a small bladder, urinary tract infections, diabetes, epilepsy, and neurological problems. Researchers recently found that the absence of the hormone vasopressin may be a factor in childhood bedwetting. Organic causes may require surgery or other procedures.

Nonorganic causes may be approached with behavioral techniques. The child may be instructed to take charge of such things as making a trip to the bathroom before bedtime, washing soiled bedclothes, and charting the progress of the number of dry nights experienced. Moisture alarm systems are sometimes useful. Prescription medicines used to treat bedwetting include vasopressin, certain antidepressants, and occasionally, amphetamines.

High Street

By VIVA WHITMAN

Looks like a good morning as I sit down to type but they say a thirty percent chance of snow. Hope we don't get it today as I have a trip to Fryeburg to make. Some cooler than we have been having and one can sure feel it. We have been blessed with the warmer weather and just hope we don't pay for it later. After all, this is Maine and we usually get some snow sooner or later. Let us just hope it isn't later.

Didn't do too much on Monday only hand work and what else had to be done around the house. Tom and Peggy were down in the evening and played sixty three with us. It makes the evenings go faster for all of us and we enjoy the game.

Tuesday was Peggy's day for going to the store to work but only did the store in South Paris on Tuesday as they were doing inventory in Bridgton and didn't want her to come that day.

Oh yes, Tuesday evening was Pomona Grange at Oxford and we attended. It was a good meeting with a large attendance and a good program as Skip Herrick the Sheriff was there to speak about the D.A.R.E. Program and other things as well.

Peggy went to Bridgton to do cards on Wednesday afternoon so got her job done for the week. She said valentines were going fast this year even if they are high priced.

Peggy and Russell went to the dance at West Paris on Saturday evening and said there were one hundred ten folks there dancing. Quite a crowd but all had a good time. Jones Orchestra was there from Greene to play and it was enjoyed. Hoping to have another dance this week but guess not too sure of it yet.

Mary had Carl Roberts as a visitor one evening recently.

Mary told me that she heard that Katie Lammiman is in the hospital with a broken hip for which I am sorry. She has not been too well and didn't need a broken hip to add to her miseries.

West Paris will have their next grange meeting on Feb. 21 and the next dance will be the 2nd of March so plan on it and come for the usual good time.

Colder this morning so hope everyone bundles up when going out so they will keep warm. Lots of colds around and the change of cold to warm and back to cold weather doesn't help any. Take care and have a good week ahead.

Newry

By JIM ANDERSON

So it doesn't end up on the editor's floor, here is the Newry Ladies Bowling news! Betsy Clark, Karlene Bachelder, Gil Sealey, Sylvia Wight, Eleanor Davis, Olive Anderson, and I were at the Oxford lanes bowling and playing pinball. Once again the dynamic team of "Little Betsy" and "The Rolling Pin Queen" were having their head to head contest to see who would be high single and high triple string winner. Once again Karlene won. While I tease Karlene about being "The Rolling Pin Queen", I'd hate to see the results or remains of some poor burglar that crossed her path.

I have some sad news about our photo father and son (Brad and Kurt Wight). Both poor men had their share of ill on Feb. 11-12. Captain Kurt came down with the chicken pox, while papa "Rusty Jones" had an all-nighter with the rest of Newry Fire Department. By noontime "Papa Peanut," on Tuesday was sent home (with pay) to get some Z's.

Before I get into a fireman's view of Bethel's house fire, I'll mention the happenings at the Newry's Mother's Club meeting the night of the fire. Thirteen members were at the meeting and Peggy Wight had a long time friend with her as guest. Peggy's friend was Donna Kouch. Peggy read a letter from another group of people from Newry, Ireland. In the letter, the suggestion was made that the two towns have a one week family exchange. Then Donna Kouch drew the mystery prize. Somehow, Peggy's name was chosen. HMM! The ladies then addressed a valentine for each of the children of Newry. The refreshment committee for the March meeting is Debbie Taylor, Shirley Keith, and "little Betsy" Clark. Also all the ladies are to bring "think of you" type cards to be addressed and sent to our women and men in the Persian Gulf and elsewhere overseas.

On Monday night around 7:30 to 7:45 p.m., there was a call over the radio that a fire was going on in Bethel on Main Street. Around 8:30 there was a call for Newry's Fire Department to respond to the Bethel Fire Department with our Maxium pumper and a crew to man it. I chuckled a bit, since there isn't a mutual aid agreement between Newry and Bethel. This meant that Newry would or might bill Bethel for our services. After mother came back from her meeting I went off to the Sunday River Fire House. Before I went over to the station, I had called Pam Conkright to tell her what I was doing. Both Michael and Mike were going to the fire at that time. I learned two days later from Brad Wight, that all the other fire fighters said that the two Conkright offspring (kids or children wouldn't do here) held their own with the other older fighters! By 10 p.m., Bill Wight and Connie Parent came to Sunday River Fire House to get two sets of turnout gear. While I had both the station's scanner and my own pager on, I was not aware of how bad the fire was. By 2 a.m. I went to the Bethel Fire House to see what was going on. I had heard some talk and once had spoken to Allan Fleet (whom I learned from who all from our Department was there). I still had no idea how bad the fire was or how our men were doing. I had heard Danny "tired iron" voice twice on the radio and was glad to see him at work once I got to the fire house in Bethel. If Danny ever gets another bug screen for his pickup, I suggest he have "Galvanized steel" painted on it. "Tired iron" he ain't!! If you knew Dan, you'd understand. After listening to Dan use language that he usually reserves to things even less than his "flatlander" vocabulary on a third coffee maker, I retreated to the fire (safer?) site.

The building, where it wasn't burning was an ice palace, was located behind the monument in Bethel. There I finally met Chief Tink with his iced bell bottomed pants. I'm still trying to figure out if he was trying to unfreeze his face or what, but he smiled when

Bethel Water District given plaque for use of old iron pipe

The Bethel Water District last week received a plaque recognizing the district's continuous use of cast iron water mains for more than one hundred years.

The plaque was presented to Robert Saunders, president of the District at the Maine Water Utilities Association trade show in Portland.

The plaque was presented by Earl Brown, P.E., the regional engineer for the Ductile Iron Pipe Research Association, which is the sponsor of this recognition program.

"One hundred years seems a long time for equipment to remain in service, but is likely just the beginning of the life of this pipe in Bethel," he saw me. I reported to him what I had been doing and got his approval (thank God!). Then I looked for some of our men, Mike, Michael, Brad, Rick McVey, and Tink all had a 1/4 inch of ice on them. I knew that Allan was disappointed that he couldn't find any berries like our last fire, so I left him alone. Poor Rick was so frozen he tried to throw a fire hose over the speed limit sign, but his arms were frozen to the point that he could only raise them half way. I heard that his suit was so frozen, that he needed help getting into the cab of the Maxium. Before I left the scene, I told Tink that I was going back to turn up the heat. I finished the paperwork for us and went home at 4 a.m. Most of our men returned home at 4:30 a.m. what a night!

change the face of lower Main Street. But change is the name of the game in any town. That is why Historical Societies thrive so the past won't be completely forgotten.

Looks like our early spring has turned back into winter but it was nice while it lasted. It gave me a chance to stop in and see my aunt Leone Finn, one day last week. When it is cold and stormy I never seem to have the motivation.

Upton

By ARLINE BERNIER

Lane Hill was opened up recently as the Scribners moved their residence to the Doctor Barnes home there.

The loveliest part of Valentines' day is that it completes half of the next to last month of winter and those of us who love to study seed catalogs can be serious about it. It's about time to start tomatoes, and peppers. Pots of tulips and anemones are budding and blooming in this extended sunshine and resulting light and warmth.

Our sympathies to Margaret Mitchell for the death of her brother Walter Griffin of Westbrook. Margaret flew up from St. Petersburg to be with the families in the Portland area for several days. Cards may be sent to 3827 Seventh Place North St. Petersburg 33713.

Our sympathies to the Olson families for the death of Annie Olson. The Upton and Newry young people mingled much during the 30's and 40's anyway so we all are part of a group together including the Olsons of the Branch road.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Five Most Common Mistakes

These are typical of questions asked by taxpayers and are presented as a public service of this publication and the IRS.

Q. What are the worst mistakes I can make on my income tax return?

A. Although there are no "worst mistakes," the following list describes some of the more common errors that can cause your return to be delayed in processing and explains how to avoid making those mistakes:

1. Math errors, including figuring total income, balance due or refund amount, and taxable income. It helps to round off cents to the nearest dollar and double check your math.

2. Omitting necessary information and schedules, such as a spouse's social security number, or checking the dependency status box. Double check these areas of your return before sending it to IRS.

3. Earned income credit. There are several areas where mistakes are made, including claiming the credit when not appropriate, as well as not claiming the credit when entitled and incorrectly computing the amount of the credit.

Generally, if you have earned income of less than $20,264 for tax year 1990 and have one or more qualifying children, you may be eligible to claim the earned income credit. To be certain, check the rules in your tax package or request Publication 596, Earned Income Credit.

4. Age/blindness box. If you are eligible to claim an additional standard deduction for age or blindness, you must check the box on Form 1040.

5. Incorrect standard deduction amount. If you are uncertain of your correct standard deduction, check the instructions in your tax package.

Q. I will be unable to get all of my information to complete my return by April 15th. What can I do?

A. File for an extension. Use Form 4868, Application for Automatic Extension of Time To File U.S. Individual Income Tax Return. Mail it to the IRS service center processing returns for your area before April 15th. You will have an automatic extension of time to file until August 15th. If you expect to owe taxes, enclose your payment. An extension of time to file is not an extension to pay. You cannot get an extension of time to file if you file a Form 1040EZ, or ask the IRS to figure part of your tax.

Q. We moved since filing our return last year. Do we send our return to the same place as last year?

A. If you move to another state, consult the "Where to File" section of your tax package for the correct IRS Service Center in your area. If you are unsure, call 1-800-829-1040 and ask.

Cross Country Quilters

Cross Country Quilters met Tuesday, Feb. 5 at 9 a.m. at the Bethel Library, with president Virginia Keniston presiding. There were 12 members present and two guests, Gerry Howe and Catherine Calef of Dixfield.

The president called for the secretary's report which was accepted as read. She reported on activities and projects of the last two meetings, on Jan. 8 and 22.

Carole Crandall brought "Violetta" Keepsake fabric Medleys Kits for members challenge. She also passed out the rules, and emphasized that this is not a contest, only a challenge for each individual. The 96-inch square, round or rectangle is to be completed June 4.

A discussion had been held at one of the meetings on the Middle Intervale Quilt. Millie Jackson brought an idea called "Fun Patch," done with scraps and members voted to do it. It will be done with scraps of blue and light pieces. Ginny brought in the patterns at this meeting and members proceeded to mark and cut their quilt pieces. Each member will probably make at least six squares. Millie and Gerry had already put together some squares.

The past three meetings have been interesting with many show and tell projects. Alice McInnis showed Barbie Doll clothes she had made for her granddaughter. Millie Jackson showed her double wedding ring (top), brown and peach, which is lovely. Catherine Calef brought us her latest project, which was the snowball quilt squares she won at our Christmas party and what a nice top she had put together, real festive and Christmasy. Catherine also left with the members some raffle tickets for the Pine Tree Quilters' Guild quilt, which will be raffled at the 14th annual quilt show held in Orono in July.

Mary Keniston brought in a box of old quilt squares and tops given the club by Celia Gorman and were made by her mother and grandmother. Members were delighted to see the old quilted tops and will decide later in the spring what to do with them. We do sincerely thank Celia for thinking of us and wanting us to have them to use for quilting projects.

The next meeting will be held on Feb. 19, same place and same time.

Greenstock Snow Sports hold rally in Woodstock

The Greenstock Snow Sports Club held its sixth annual snowmobile rally Sunday to raise money for Tri-Town Ambulance and Emergency Rescue.

Club member Peter Rosenberg said for a fee of $5 each snowmobile enthusiast spent the day riding trails "from Bird Hill to Lake Christopher to just about anywhere they wanted to go." The rally was held at his farm in Bryant Pond.

Chairman George Hayes said 40 people registered to ride in the rally. Fifty or so others who didn't register made donations at the various checkpoints along the way.

"The trail conditions were excellent," Hayes said.

"People think we haven't had enough snow, but that isn't so. It was a great day for a ride," Rosenberg added.

In addition to the rally, the Greenstock Club plans to raffie a canoe in the spring. A portion of those proceeds will also benefit Tri-Town Rescue. According to Hayes, the Greenstock Club donates $500 annually to the rescue service.

The rally winner, with a time of two hours and 11 minutes, was Albert Penley Jr., of West Paris.

Bethel Library to add Junior Story Hour for children under three

Beginning Thursday, Feb. 28 the Bethel Library will expand its story hour program to include a Junior Story Hour for children under three years of age.

The group will be limited to six children, and a sign-up sheet will be posted each Friday afternoon in an effort to be fair to all. Parents may either attend the 10-10:30 a.m. story time with their children or sit downstairs in the library; it is suggested that parents remain in the building in case they are needed.

The regular pre-school story hour for children aged three to five years will continue as before, Thursdays from 10-11 a.m. During school vacations and snow days there will be no story hour.

THOUGHTS FROM THE Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words, comfort and help for your daily life.

Sadness, depression, the lack of wanting to be involved in anything, and a lack of creative energy seem to be the feelings shared by several at this time. The weather, problems with the local economy, struggles at home, and the ever present war in the Gulf seem to be the cause. In the church calendar, we have entered Lent. This is a time of looking at our relationship with God.

It is something like Jesus wandering in the wilderness, better preparing himself for the service ahead. He enters a dry, harsh land and leaves strengthened and ready. We have entered a dry, harsh land. It is the land of February 1991. When in the desert, Jesus was tempted with gluttony, greed, and power. He overcame the temptation with his commitment to God. In our desert, there is the temptation to feel hopeless. Yet, where there is God there is hope and where there is prayer, there is an invitation to God that hope might abound. While in the wilderness, Jesus might have looked about at all the land that was unproductive and thought about how many in God's creation are places dry of faith. In spite of this Jesus found hope in the wilderness. We can find hope in our wilderness. It is natural to feel every human emotion that comes with this desert journey. The important thing is to look at what the emotion is telling us. If we are being tempted with hopelessness, then the source of our temptation is possibly related to a feeling of God's absence. If God seems absent from our life then there is the need to invite God in. Pour out the feelings in prayer with God. God can handle it. Also, look to those God sends us.

It is true that God gives us what we need to handle any situation if we mean that God gives us each other to get through every situation.

Sharing what you are feeling with God, a friend, a support group will not make the situation go away but the temptation to hopelessness can be overcome. We have entered Lent, a wilderness journey. It is a time preparing for Easter by coming to a deeper relationship with God. The situation in our world today can lead us to the temptation of hopelessness. We need to recognize the feelings that we have but not let them consume us. There are many resources, prayer, friends, support groups. Once we have traveled this wilderness, we like Jesus might find ourselves strengthened and ready to go on in service to God and each other.
